To Whom It May Concern:

The following table reflects the current pricing structure for volume discounts for the various StormNow and AirWarn services. Multiple user accounts may be associated together through a common group ID, which each StormNow user must specify under their "Modify Account" page. To obtain a group ID, please contact admin@dataswitch.com and specify your preference for a group ID (up to 10 characters) and the name that we should internally associate with that group; we will slightly encrypt the group ID that you have selected to discourage others from trying to guess your group ID, and thus gain unauthorized access to your discount structure.

Whenever the number of active delivery options changes across all accounts within your group, such that you would now fall within a different discount category, the cost charged for each delivery of that type within that group will be adjusted to the new category's price beginning on that day.

Please note that discounts are calculated based on multiples of the same delivery type (i.e., pager, email, or fax) or service (StormNow Lite or AirWarn), and are subject to change at any time without prior notification and at the sole discretion of DataSwitch Information Services, Inc. Also note that there are no volume discounts for per-bulletin charges, as these prices have already been set at, or near cost.
